A BAVARIAN DUEL.—The Bavarians take things cooly. At Cham, in the Bavarian forest, the other day, two young men quarrelled in the room of a hotel, and were put out to fight in the courtyard. They did so for 20 minutes and it would appear that the habitues did not during the time, concern themselves about the matter, but let the fight go on. At the end, the men staggered back, one with twenty, and the other with thirty wounds, sat down in their respective places, and leaned on the table. A minute after, one rolled over dead; then in another minute, the other fell off his chair a corpse.

A SILVER wedding that will be worth witnessing will be observed on the 28th of April, at St. Petersburg. It is that of Czar Alexander and the Czarina. They were married on the 28th of April, 1841. The Czar's birthday falls on the 29th of April, when he will be 48 years old. His wife, who is 42, is Mary Alexandrowna, daughter of the Grand Duke of Hesse-Darmstadt, one of the minor sovereigns of Germany. Five sons and a daughter are the fruits of their marriage, the daughter, who bears the mother's name, being 13. The eldest son died recently.

Ex-Governor Bigler and others in Sacramento have organized themselves into an association called the "State Capital Printing and Publishing Company." Their capital stock is $50,000. They are to establish a daily and weekly paper to be called the Capital Reporter. John Bigler is to be the editor.

A Paris correspondent says:—"A terrible rumor rumor was circulating yesterday in the saloons. Crinoline is in danger! Neither the Empress nor the ladies of honor wore it at the dinner on Monday at the Tuileries. You here see the consequences of that reform at the court which, if it be continued, will destroy unhappy crinoline."

A FRIENDLY JUDGE.—A dispatch from San Francisco says: The decision of Judge Rix by which he discharged Judge Tyler on the charge of an attempt to suborn witnesses is condemned in unmeasured terms by the whole community. Nothing in our courts has created such an amount of feeling in a long time.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 18, 1866.

The Silver Mines of Utah.

The ledges in the Pahranagat District are attracting much attention, and eastern capital is eagerly seeking investment in them. The assertions so often made in this journal concerning these ledges and those of Rush Valley bid fair to be fully tested during the present mining season.—need we add, no doubt is entertained by us of the success of the testing operations. It is claimed that the Pahranagat mines present to eastern capital several advantages not possessed by Rush Valley, Idaho and Montana. The district is located so far south that work can be prosecuted at all seasons of the year, and it is but a short distance from the head of navigation on the Colorado river. The ledges thus far developed bid fair to yield rich returns to those who are fortunate enough to own them. Every assay thus far made indicates the hidden wealth of that region, and we confidently expect to witness within two years a large and thriving community in that portion of Utah.

Rush Valley is not behind Pahranagat in mineral wealth. It will prove as rich if not richer than its more southern rival—a rival only in a generous race for the development of wealth. Like Pahranagat the ledges of Rush Valley can be worked summer and winter. The operations now in progress in Rush are characterized by energy and sagacity of purpose. Owners of ledges are availing themselves of every opportunity to develope and prove the value of their property. With each day's labor they behold increasing evidences of the value of their mines, and none doubt the future success of that district. Several furnaces are rapidly approaching completion, and whether Pahranagat or Rush Valley send out the first silver button makes no difference. That button will inaugurate a new era for Utah—those districts will rapidly fill up with energetic working men, who, holding in their hands "the key of the silver mines," will soon solve the polygamy question and hasten the redemption of Utah.

MONTANA AS IT IS.

II.

More about Bannack and Surroundings—Quartz Mills and Mining—First Mill "Runs"—Extent of Gold and Silver Lodes in Montana—Placer Diggings—Mining the Poor Man's Friend—The Prospective Mining Wealth of Montana an the Prospective Risk of Realizing it—"The Place of the Gold is where you find it."

Columbus, surnamed Christopher, steering for the Indies east, and having struck San Salvador, called that island groop the "West Indies." With about as much analogy did those Pike Peakers, strolling towards Salmon River and that chief city of placers, Bannack, (now Idaho City,) after striking a "big prospect" on Grasshopper Gulch, pitch their tents to build a burg and call it Bannack East. Here, where last we parted, patient reader, are now comparatively few habitations, though the houses of 1862 and '3 still stand on their auriferous foundations. Taking Bannack City and surroundings, (Beaver Head County,) there are perhaps three hundred citizens, all told, including miners, merchants, prospectors and ranchmen, with their wives and children. In this town there are three or four stores, a couple of saloons, an Overland Stage Office, and a hotel or two, together with a dozen or so of private dwellings. The Stage office is "run" by "Gov." Pollinger, formerly the popular proprietor of a "peanut stand," and an esta bueno stage man, in Pike's Peak. A Post office is there, conducted by Hon. H. D. Weed, a first-rate gentleman on general principles.—The gold bearing quartz lodes in the vicinity are really rich, extensive and even not over-rated by their sanguine claimants. Two large mills are located there, one of which is now working on rich ore from that distinguished lode, the "Docatah," and is destined to make its owners millionaires before another year or two. The manager, Mr. Batchelder, informed us that his men had just "struck it" fabulously rich, at a depth of 230 feet, with a widtir of crevice three feet and a half, with brown quartz ore exhibiting spangles of free gold all over it,—yielding as high as fifteen dollars to the pound of rock when pounded in a common mortar. This is literally true. The discovery at this depth will inspire the hearts of Bannack mill men and of parties interested in those mines with a spirit and a courage calculated to cause the best and biggest prying developments in that district during the summer, which will astonish owners among the eastern capitalists. Col. Wood, manager for an eastern company, is having another quartz mill put in readiness for active operations in the spring. Several more are to be brought here soon, so that before twelvemonths time, the Bannack bullion, gold and silver, shall commence to swell the currency of the country. In the Rattlesnake and Blue Wing Districts, six to twelve miles from Bannack, and one of them close by to an embryo burg called by the allisonant name of Montana City, the silver ledges are glistening all over with great globules of silver, showing thus, and through their tested assays, to be equal to the richest on the Comstock of Nevada. Smelting furnaces are to be erected in this district during the summer, and a crop of silver bricks will certainly fast follow in the fall.—The gold lodes of Bannack vicinity and the silver ledges of Bald Mountain's brows, the Rattlesnake hills, have a well-founded fame for richness and extent.

In '62 "Bannack on the Brain" was epidemical from the Missouri to the Oregon. Thousands tramped and staged it thither, to get a share of the gold of Grasshopper Gulch, and get home in time to spend it. Of these, thousands were disappointed, of course, as they are in every undertaking where Miss Fortune makes her own wise rules and by-laws. Hundreds of those pioneers found streaks which washed out hundred dollar pans, and several pounds per day, while others failed to find the "color." Scores came there to stay and fill a felon's grave. Even the first sheriff of the place was finally hanged for highway robbery, upon the gallows which he himself had raised, a few months previously to string up others. In 1862 and '3 as high as a million or two of gold dust must have been taken out of this gulch and tributaries; and it is not fully "worked out" yet. The discovery of "big pay" on Alder Gulch, a tributary of the Stinkwater, sixty or more miles to the eastward, created a "stampede" in the summer of '63, (not in '62, as Mr. A. D. Richardson's Tribune letter gave it,) which resulted in the desertion and decadence of Bannack, and soon established the great eldorado of which Virginia City was improvised as the metropolis of its own county, Madison, and of Montana generally. Between Bannack and Virginia cities, as the mail coach runs, lie the three beautiful valleys of the Rattlesnake, the Beaverhead and the Stinking-water streams, civilized here and there with splendid farms which within their well-fenced bounds are genial with the smoke of cottage chimneys and hilarious with the harmonies of cackling hens and whining watch-dogs, blatant calves and grunting porkers.

There are doubtless full five hundred lodes, auriferous and argentiferous, established in this Beaverhead county.—By being "established" we don't mean developed or definitely proven lodes; but only prospected and pronounced so, and "so recorded." Of these there may be ten or twenty that may prove genuine, great and rich; the others only "wild-cats." Why an "eastern company" will persist in purchasing their "thousand feet" in this, that and the other lode, in this territory or elsewhere west, without first examining it, is a strange phenomenon in the speculative shrewdness of Americans. Yet such has been the case; and so-called "specimens" and "assays," after a fashion, are making—as they have made—more misfortune for the true interests of good gold mines in Montana than the developments of a decade can remedy or reemburse.

Personal observation prompts us to praise up the placers, and the gold and silver mines of Montana, as perhaps at present the most rich, extensive and available in the west or in the world.—We do this for the sake of penning the truth, as it strikes us up here, everywhere; though at the same time our self-interest counsels silence of the fact, so far as shadowing the gold-fields of Colorado and the silver hills of Utah.—Placer diggings—the poor man's friend—are far more extensive and far better-paying through Montana than elsewhere in the west; and the gold-streaked quartz and the silver-spotted ore in several separate districts, is equal to the richest which we have ever seen come from Colorado, Utah, or the Golden State.

Not only in a radius of twenty miles 'round Bannack, (Beaverhead County,) and for fifteen miles around Virginia City, (Madison County,) including the exceedingly rich gold lodes in Summit, Mill and Hot Spring Districts, washed by gulches gleaming with gold dust and nuggets, but also in the Boulder silver district, (Jefferson County,) the surprising rich gold-quartz in districts around Helena City, (Edgerton County,) the supposed rich hills in Deerlodge and Meagher counties, with the wonderfully yielding gulches called Last Chanse, Confederate, Elk, Big Ben and Blackfoot, from forty to a hundred miles apart—all these teeming with their tens of millions, not to speak of the twenty millions taken from a few of them the past two years—make Montana, to our thinking, the most extensive and available gold country on this continent.—Scores of quartz mills, and machinery for making silver bricks, will be brought here by the first boats from St. Louis to Fort Benton, thence by teams to the best districts in the several counties of this Territory; and they will be built before the summer closes, so as to crush the stacks of quartz already gotten out, and cause a handsome gold crop to be harvested even here this fall.

This winter there were but six or seven quartz mills that have been working throughout the Territory. One of these was at Bannack City, but, by losing the line of the lode, the mill made little progress until lately, when they struck the crevice and, as above stated, "struck it" fabulously rich. In Summit District, six or seven miles from Virginia City, there are two mills, only one of which was working during the winter. One of these, the "Seneca Falls Co's" Mill, made $1,340, from its first five and a half days' run. In 26 days, crushing from Kearsage Lode quartz, it yielded $5,600. This ore was partly from the surface and partly from a depth of eighty feet. Crushing from another gold lode in that neighborhood, this winter the same mill made a run of $9,050, from 17 tons of ore from the Oro Cache lode, at a depth of forty feet; and from a ton of rock from the Mapleton lode, a few miles further down the gulch, (Alder,) it yielded $89.50; thus the gold-quartz of the vicinity of Virginia yields, as now imperfectly worked in their small mills, from 35 to 250 dollars to the ton, (200 to 1800 dollars to the cord,) richer on an average, (from the surface down) than anything in the annals of mill mining in Colorado or California. In Hot Spring District, twenty miles from Virginia City, the mill located there crushed $3,145, from its first run of ten and a half cords of rock.

A few months since also, at Helena City, 120 miles north of Virginia, the Sultana Co's mill established there, crushed over 2500 dollars from the first four and a half days' run, from only surface quartz of the celebrated Sultana lode, situate six miles from Helena, and near the head of Nelson gulch. In other districts, distant scores of miles from these just quoted, the gold-bearing quartz is jutting out of the hills and hiding into the cañons, to an extent which cannot keep this Territory, in two or three years more, from being the "biggest quartz country" on either scope of the Rocky Mountains. Silver ledges are numerous and noted for their richness in a belt of country known as the Boulder district, about a hundred and twenty miles to the north of Bannack and the Rattlesnake silver hills, and about twenty miles to the south of Helena. Through Deer Lodge country, sixty or a hundred miles northwest from Virginia, and forty miles west from Helena, are situate some quartz lodes which are looked to with high hopes and promise. The two chief, among the quartz-gold placers, gulches and bar diggings of this Territory, this season and as far as descerned, are those of Alder Gulch, at Virginia City, thirteen miles long; Last Chance Gulch, six miles, close to Helena City; Confederate Gulch, ten miles in length, forty miles northeast of Helena; Big Bear, Elk and others of extraordinary extent and reputed richness, in the Blackfoot River regions, from fifty to a hundred miles northwest of Virginia and Helena; together with almost a thousand minor gulches, tributaries of the former, and famous for their richness to a few favored operators. Paying gulches are the poor miners' friends; while good gold-quartz lodes are a country's basis for more permanent prosperity. The latter, with the excellent agricultural and pastural advantages, are bound to build Montana Territory high up in fame and fortune. Its innumerable and ever-discovering gulches, generally rich in precious dust and nuggets, are calculated not only to attract but to support the swelling tide of immigration which already has set in here from both the west and east. With its watered alleys and its wooded hills, its hundred paying placers and its thousand prospecting lodes, Montana will maintain its already noted name for many years to come—so long, at least, as until with the railroad to Salt Lake from the Sierras, and the iron horse ascending the east slope of Colorado's Rocky Range, Utah (pinched by progress and purged of its gross darkness,) shall connect the commerce of the prairies and the Pacific, making Montana and Idaho its best allies, and its owns elf the pure queen of central enterprise and wealth.

But, per contra, something must be done, both in Montana as in Utah and elsewhere, to make mines and mining permanently profitable to the great masses. Large mill-runs and big pan-fulls, here and there, should not deceive the tens of thousands that may leave their distant homes of comfort and embark upon the wild and maddening waves of mining life out west. Of the twenty thousand through this Territory, this winter, the one half are mining, prospecting, or making preparations to mine, and the other half are engaged in agriculture, trade, or trifling their time in idleness. But of those that are and will be mining, whether in lodes or gulches, not over one in every five will eventually be "fortunate." There is an immense amount of money in the thousand quartz lodes, but it takes deep digging and close figuring to get a tithe of that wealth out. There are a thousand thickly studded streaks of the coarse gold and nuggets in these gulches, miles in length and for hundred miles apart, but there is a mighty mass of surface dirt and drifting, with a Herculean strength of stripping, sluicing, prospecting and panning to be done before developments will give back dividends. A world of industry can be employed broadcast throughout these mines this year, though the chill Autumn may close down upon comparatively few miners who have "made their pile." As in all of the great mining countries of this century, this Territory is no exception to that sage remark of Scripture—"The place of the gold is where you find it."

HOUSE.

Chicago, April 15.

The following is the territorial business in Congress, Tuesday 12th, not previously reported: In the House Rice, of Me from Committee on Territories reported a bill providing that any loyal citizen who shall establish an Artesian well on any mail route of New Mexico, Arizona, Colorado, or the Colorado Desert, and California, at least ten miles distant from any spring or stream of living water on such route, shall be entitled to one section of public land embracing such well.

Washburne, of Illinois, said there was a cat under this meal tub, and characterized it as game of speculators to get town sites.

Rice said the bill originated with the Commissioner of the General Land Office, the bill was finally recommitted. Rice also reported adversely on the memorial of the Arizona Legislature asking that a tract of land in the bend of Colorado River be attached to that Territory.

Marion, of N. Y., from Committee on Territories reported adversely on memorial of the Utah Legislature for appropriation to construct roads. Moulton, of Illinois, from the same Committee reported a bill appropriating ten thousand dollars for the survey of the boundary between Idaho and Oregon, referred to the Committee of the Whole. Starr, of N. J., from the same Committee reported adversely on the memorial of the Utah Legislature asking appropriation for a library at Salt Lake.

GENERAL NEWS.

San Francisco, April 16.

A terrible explosion of what is supposed to be nitro glycerine occurred at a quarter past one o'clock to-day, near Wells, Fargo & Co's building. The explosion shook the earth like an earthquake for a circuit of a quarter of a mile. Samuel Knight, Superintendent of Wells, Fargo & Co., died in half an hour after the explosion, of injuries received; G. W. Bell, Supervisor and Assessor, was instantly killed; Mr. Wallub, Wells, Fargo & Co's Assayer, Jos. Ellicott, John Gallagher, Frank Webster, and Wm. Justin were also killed. Eight dead bodies have been taken from the ruins, so mutilated that they could not be identified. Louis McLane, Capt. Eldridge, of the Pacific Mail Steamship Co., and Judge Hoffman, were bruised and cut; Felix Larkin, D. Stacey, Jefferson Taylor, of H Blum & Co., clothing dealer, Capt. J. E Ayers, Fred. Liez, Frank Morris and others were injured, but not fatally. Some will never be identified, as fragments of human flesh, bones and brains were found nearly two blocks distant. Montgomery, Sacramento and California streets are lined with broken glass, scarcely a window for a distance of several hundred feet remaining whole. Wells, Fargo & Co's horses and everything animate or inanimate were blown into fragments. The damage is estimated to be at least $200 000. Wm. Haven, book-keeper of the Pacific Mail Co., is ascertained to be among the killed.

The cause of the explosion is a mystery. The freight agent of the Pacific Mail Co. says, two boxes, each measuring about four cubic feet, were taken from the steamer dock to the place where the explosion occurred. One box was consigned to Idaho City and the other to Los Angeles, and both stained with oil. The contents are not known. Forty men are now engaged in removing the ruins.

There is not even a guess as to when the House will proceed to consider the resolution admitting Tennessee, nor is it known that the Committee have matured any measure with regard to the late rebellious States. This morning, 12th inst., there being a large gathering in the gallery to listen to eulogies on the late Senator Foote, the Nevada Senator seized the opportunity to offer a substitute for the late amendment to his original resolution. The Senator has a peculiar knack of selecting important occasionss for the introduction of his measures, and from all appearances must keep a stock of resolutions, amendments and substitutes on hand for such chances. If the question is not soon brought up there will be some difficulty in finding a way out of the maze of the propositions already booked for consideration.

The city medical officer reports up to last evening 170 deaths among the passengers of the steamer England, including 40 who died on the passage from Liverpool. He reports the disease as probably a severe form of ship fever, with many prominent symptoms of cholera. It amounts to a regular plague. The surviving passengers are being removed, some to Her Majesty's receiving ship, Pyramus, others to tents on the shore. The disease is apparently decreasing. The number of deaths is greatly reduced to-day. The disease is confined to steerage passengers.

MINT IN NEVADA.—The people of Nevada will soon have a Branch Mint. Senators Nye and Stewart both telegraph from Washington that "the plans have been approved and will be forwarded at once." The Carson Appeal thinks the corner-stone of the edifice will be laid as early as the 18th of next June.

OFF FOR PAHRANAGAT.—Yesterday, Mr. W. H. Mills, the capitalist and miner, whose arrival we noticed a few days since, started for Pahranagat. He is accompanied by Lieut. R. D. Pike, who is well known to many of our citizens as the genial whole souled Quartermaster at Fort Bridger, but who doffed the "blue" in favor of the pick and shovel. We wish them both success in their new undertaking.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.—The performance of the Bray Troupe on Monday evening was unusually fine. The audience was large, and everybody was in good spirits. Walter Bray was as droll as ever. Flora Bray sung and played with her usual good taste, while Carrie Chapman's dances were performed with grace and spirit. This evening an entirely new programme is offered, concluding with the Persecuted Dutchman.

"Lo. the Poor Indian!"

A bill has passed the United States Senate, and is now before the House, which provides for the organization of a Board of Inspectors to look after the management of Indian affairs. The said Board is to consist of three members, one of whom shall be appointed by the President; the second by the Secretary of War, and the third shall be recommended by the various Christian denominations of the United States, and appointed by the President.

THE OVERLAND TRAVEL WEST.—Holladay's overland stage and express lines from the Missouri River to Salt Lake and up to Montana and Idaho have been consolidated with the Butterfield opposition, and the whole put into a grand joint stock company. Nearly two millions dollars were paid Holladay for his interests; but he retains for the present a majority of the stock, the company bears the name of "The Holladay Overland Express Company," and Mr. Holladay is president. Daily stages will be run from the termini of the several branches of the Pacific railroad out from the Missouri river, as they progress westward, meeting at a common point near Fort Kearney, where the railroads themselves are expected to meet, and where will be the grand station of the line, and from here westward over the Plains to Denver will be run two lines of stages daily, and more, indeed, if necessary, to accomodate the large and increasing travel. The stations on the line have been put in fine condition, the stock increased and improved, the Indians are likely to behave well this season, and the trip by stage to Colorado will henceforth be a quick, safe, inspiriting and delightful journey. Besides the great flow of travel for business purpuses to Colorado and beyond to Montana and Idaho, there is likely to grow up this summer a large pleasure travel to the Rock Mountains; and another season, when the state road on to Salt Lake by the Berthoud Pass and the Middle Pass is finished and put in good order, this will be stimulated, by the facilities of the route, and the enthusiasm of those who have gone over it heretofore, or shall go this year, to a degree almost incalculable, and surely very profitable to the stage owners, and very useful to all our national interests. Henceforth, "Across the Continent" will divide fascinations with "Across the ocean" for the sight-seers and health-seekers of the Atlantic States.—Springfield Republican.
